Ultrapulse CO2 at Escobedo Skin Center Receives National Acclaim

Austin, TX November 13, 2009--The Ultrapulse fractional treatment at Escobedo Skin Center has now been featured locally on KXAN News and nationally on the website of world-renowned medical aesthetic company Lumenis, the makers of the machine.

Ultrapulse first received national attention after it was featured on 20/20 and The Today Show for its amazing ability to dramatically improve the appearance of burn scars.

The Ultrapulse includes three treatments in one machine to eliminate acne and burn scars, brown spots and wrinkles with less downtime and discomfort than previous laser treatments. Active FX treats the top layer of skin for shallow damage, Deep FX goes into the second layer of skin and Total FX combines Active and Deep FX for maximum results.

After treatment, patients experience improved skin tone and texture and sun damage and signs of aging become almost invisible. The fractional laser pinpoints areas of damage, leaving "bridges" of skin to speed the healing process. Patients now heal faster than traditional CO2 laser treatments and see better results.
